

Auto Glass University Privacy Policy

We are dedicated to protecting your right to privacy. Any information you give to Auto Glass University will be handled with the greatest care, and will not be used in any way to which you have not consented. Any and all information collected at this site will be kept confidential and will not be sold, rented, loaned or otherwise disclosed without your permission.

Browser information gathered on the website is used to improve the design of the site, especially the usefulness and quick accessibility of materials posted on the site. Our website logs are not personally identifiable, and we make no attempt to link them with the individuals that actually browse the site.

We do not sell or share e-mail addresses or any other visitor information with third parties. E-mail addresses, which visitors volunteer in order to receive e-mail online updates are kept confidential.

The same pledge to respect your privacy applies to any individual who either joins or contributes online via this website. Subscribers and contributors have and may exercise the choice of having Auto Glass University keep their name private or occasionally share it with other organizations.
